INTRODUCTION

- 1.1 The Governors, all staff, volunteers and the whole community of St Paul's Girls' School is committed to the early identification, intervention against, and prevention of, all forms of child-on-child abuse, both in and out of school. We commit to the following values and strategies:
- a. In order to protect and safeguard children, the school should be aware of the complexities of the risks which students may face and create and enforce a clear and comprehensive strategy which is suited to all their safeguarding needs.
 - b. That it is the responsibility of the school to enforce its whole-school approach in response to child-on-child abuse.
 - c. That this policy is created to PREVENT child-on-child abuse and that it is not acceptable merely to adopt a reactive approach to child-on-child abuse as a response to an alleged serious incident.
 - d. We recognise national and heightened concerns about these issues – particularly in light of the Everyone's Invited platform (2021) – and the even greater need to ensure that the school's students are safe at all times and that this policy is central to this approach.
 - e. We encourage parents to participate in our procedures so that if a student is made to feel unsafe by the behaviour of one of their peers, they should inform the school immediately so that immediate and proportionate action can be taken.
- 1.2 The policy does not use the terms “perpetrator” and “abuser”. This is because the school actively adopts a safeguarding approach to all those involved in allegations of, or concerns about, child-on-child abuse. Research shows that some young people who engage in such abuse have sometimes been victims of it themselves, and that they are therefore vulnerable, and that context is vital in assessing such harmful behaviour, and in deciding any sanctions which may apply.
- 1.3 This policy refers to “students” or “young people” who are both defined as being under 18 years old, but this policy also reflects the school's commitment to a wider approach to safeguarding. We recognise that there may be additional considerations in relation to students who are over 18, or under 10, in terms of how local agencies or partners respond. In addition, the school's approach to student-produced sexual imagery will differ, depending on the age of the students involved. (See the Taking, Sharing and Using Images of Young Children Policy.)
- 1.4 In addition, this policy builds on Sexual violence and sexual harassment between children in schools and colleges (September 2021), Keeping Children Safe in Education (September 2023), Sexting in schools and colleges: responding to incidents and safeguarding children (UKCCIS), Sharing nudes and semi-nudes: advice for education settings working with children and young people (2020) (available here), the NSPCC's and Research in Practice's Harmful Sexual Behaviour Framework and Hackney Safeguarding Children's Board Safeguarding in the Context of Access to Technology and Use of Social Media (2017). Farrer and Co. Peer-on-Peer Abuse Toolkit, 2021. Hammersmith and Fulham Safeguarding Policy and Procedures, March 2019.

2. WHAT IS CHILD-ON-CHILD ABUSE?

Contextual circles of adolescent vulnerability

- 2.1 Child-on-child abuse is defined as “any form of physical, sexual and emotional and financial abuse, and coercive control, exercised between children and within children’s relationships, both intimate and non-intimate” (Abuse between young people: a contextual account (Routledge 2017)).
- 2.2 All staff should be aware that child-on-child abuse takes many forms. This is most likely to include, but is not limited to:
- Bullying (including cyberbullying).
 - Physical abuse.
 - Sexual abuse: see Appendix 1.
 - Sexual violence and sexual harassment, such as sexual comments, remarks, jokes and online sexual harassment.
 - Upskirting, which typically involves taking a picture under a person’s clothing without them knowing to obtain sexual gratification, or cause the victim humiliation, distress or alarm.
 - Sexting.
 - Initiation / hazing type violence and rituals.
 - Gender-based violence.
 - Relationship abuse (including domestic violence) where abuse takes place within existing intimate relationship(s).
 - Non-consensual sharing of nude and semi-nude images and videos.
- 2.3 All child-on-child abuse is unacceptable and will be taken seriously. Staff must be aware that young people may be abused out of school but should not minimise the potential risks of student-on-student abuse within school too.

- 2.4 We recognise that child-on-child abuse must be addressed in the terms of the context in which it occurs. Contextual safeguarding recognises an approach which understands the harm and abuse to which young people can be exposed beyond their families.
- 2.5 As the school operates a contextual approach to safeguarding, it recognises the need to work alongside a Local Safeguarding Partnership, rather than just referring young people to it.
- This means that we are aware of, and seek to understand, the effect that wider social contexts have on young people.
 - That we are also committed to creating a safe culture within school by implementing all the policies and procedures that address child-on-child abuse.
 - That we are committed to creating healthy relationships and attitudes to gender/sexuality and all forms of difference.
 - That we will provide training for staff and students on potential bias and stereotyping and commit to an inclusive approach for all members of our community.
 - That we will commit to identifying potential geographical “hotspots” on the school site which could be risky for students, thus improving the pre-existing school environment for students.
 - These “hot spots” can also include certain year groups, friendship clusters etc.
 - We will be alert to, and monitor, changes in students’ behaviour, emotional well-being and attendance.
 - In working with local agencies, we will contribute to the debate and implementation of child protection decisions by challenging threshold decisions which do not seem to be in the interest of the young person and will consistently refer cases using a contextual approach.

3. HOW WIDESPREAD IS CHILD-ON-CHILD ABUSE?

3.1 Research suggests child-on-child abuse is one of the most prevalent forms of abuse affecting young people in the UK. Firmin and Curtis (2015) suggest that more than 40% of teenage girls aged between 13 and 17 have experienced sexual coercion.

When does behaviour become problematic or abusive?

3.2 All behaviour takes place on a spectrum as suggested by Professor Simon Hackett. In order to respond appropriately, we need to understand where a young person’s behaviour falls on this spectrum. Below is Professor Hackett’s model which demonstrates the range of sexual behaviour which can be presented by young people. It is not exhaustive but offers a means by which we can understand this behaviour and react to it sensitively and proportionately.

Sexual behaviours continuum model

Normal	Inappropriate	Problematic	Abusive	Violent
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Developmentally expected • Socially acceptable • Consensual, mutual, reciprocal • Shared decision making 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Single instances of inappropriate sexual behaviour • Socially acceptable behaviour within peer group • Context for behaviour may be inappropriate • Generally consensual and reciprocal 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Problematic and concerning behaviour • Developmentally unusual and socially unexpected • No overt elements of victimisation • Consent issues may be unclear • May lack reciprocity or equal power • May include levels of compulsivity 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Victimising intent or outcome • Includes misuse of power • Coercion and force to ensure compliance • Intrusive • Informed consent lacking or not able to be freely given • May include elements of expressive violence 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Physically violent sexual abuse • Highly intrusive • Instrumental violence which is psychologically and/or sexually arousing to the child responsible for the behaviour • Sadism

4. ARE SOME STUDENTS MORE VULNERABLE THAN OTHERS TO CHILD-ON-CHILD ABUSE?

4.1 The influence of peers is possibly the most significant factor in a young person's social development and, as such, anyone can be subject to child-on-child abuse. However, there are certain groups who may be more at risk than others. For example, those with protected characteristics such as:

- Those who are socially isolated from their peer-group.
- Those who are questioning their sexuality and identity.
- Those with SEND needs: and a school must be careful not merely to assume that indicators of possible abuse relate only to their specific learning needs and are not investigated beyond this assumption.
- Those with different ethnicity, race or religious beliefs.

4.2 Research also suggests that child-on-child abuse can affect boys and girls differently and so the school must explore gender dynamics within its individual context and recognise, and address, those factors within both a single-sex environment, but also if factors outside school are involved.

5. HOW CAN WE CREATE A WHOLE SCHOOL APPROACH TO PREVENTING CHILD-ON-CHILD ABUSE?

5.1 The school is actively committed to education for its entire community – staff, students, parents, governors and volunteers – in raising awareness of, identifying, and preventing, child-on-child abuse.

This strategy will include:

- an understanding of contextual safeguarding.
- the identification of specific behaviour, including on-line activities, by encouraging young people to use social media responsibly and training them to identify and manage digitally abusive behaviour.
- ensuring that even low-level concerns are followed up and never dismissing any form of concern as mere “banter” or “teasing”.
- via the education of young people about the widespread nature of child-on-child abuse. This should include Personal, Social and Health Education (PSHE) lessons about consent etc but also in the wider school curriculum where equality and respect should be promoted at all times.

5.2 Students should be regularly informed about the harmful effects of this abuse and the vulnerabilities of those who experience it, alongside possible reasons for such behaviour.

5.3 They should be clear about what actions to take if they witness such abuse and that the school operates a zero-tolerance approach to such incidents.

5.4 Parents should also be involved via public events and face-to-face meetings to promote this policy.

5.5 They should be regularly consulted as to their view of perceived risks to students and how the school can most effectively address them.

6. ENFORCING POSITIVE CULTURE

6.1 The entire school community – governors, staff, volunteers, students and parents – should work together to promote a positive culture of tolerance and respect amongst all its members.

6.2 The whole school culture should be built upon a foundation of fostering healthy and respectful relationships for all.

6.3 Every member of the community has a part to play in ensuring that abusive behaviour is never acceptable and that everyone contributes to creating this safe environment.

6.4 Students should feel able to share their concerns in an open and non-judgemental environment and that staff are trained to develop these trusting relationships.

6.5 Staff should encourage positive qualities in students and encourage them to attain their goals and ambitions, realising that supervised activities offered to students might give them protection against abusive behaviour.

6.6 Staff should respond to cases of child-on-child abuse promptly and appropriately. This involves informing the school's safeguarding team so that they can spot concerning trends and patterns in behaviour and offer additional support to students. This is achieved via a weekly safeguarding meeting where attitudes that underlie such abuse are challenged, involving cases both within and without the classroom.

7. MULTI-AGENCY WORKING

7.1 The school actively engages with its Local Safeguarding Partnership in relation to child-on-child abuse and works closely with the London Borough of Hammersmith and Fulham Children's Services, the police and other relevant agencies in accordance with the Local Safeguarding Partnership's procedures, as well as with other schools.

7.2 These are essential relationships in preventing, early identifying, and appropriately handling, child-on-child abuse. It is also important for students and staff to understand the referral pathways which are available in the area and for students to be able to access them quickly. This information is available on the student portal.

7.3 Working together with local agencies is, furthermore, crucial in supporting and helping to inform the local community about the school's response to child-on-child abuse, as well as allowing for an understanding of any underlying trends and patterns of behaviour which are emerging in this wider context.

7.4 Often, child-on-child abuse cases are complex and where the incident cannot be managed by the school itself, it is imperative that effective partnership working is involved, especially when wider safeguarding concerns exist.

8. GENERAL PRINCIPLES

8.1 All concerns and allegations of child-on-child abuse must be handled promptly, sensitively, and appropriately. These responses can have a significant impact on the environment of a school.

8.1 ALL RESPONSES SHOULD:

- Include a thorough investigation of the concerns and allegations in the wider context in which they occur
- Assess whether it is appropriate for the police or Children's Services to carry out this process
- Treat all young people involved as at potential risk. This should also include the young person who is allegedly responsible for the abuse as they may have unmet needs and be at risk themselves
- Ensure that a safeguarding response is in place for both the child who has allegedly been abused, and anyone who is alleged to be responsible for it and understand that sanctions may need to be applied for the latter.

8.2 TAKE INTO ACCOUNT THAT:

- the abuse may indicate wider safeguarding concerns for all those involved and address the impact of wider contexts, such as peer groups, family, school environment, local community, previous experiences of crime and victimisation and the young person's online presence
- in order to mitigate risk, changes may need to be made to some of the above

- the complexity of the interplay between power, choice and consent and consider that a young person cannot consent if their choices are being limited
- the DSL should discuss any referral with the young person and their parents/carers before it is made and obtain consent. This may not be possible if a referral has to be made immediately, however
- the school should manage the young person's expectations of information sharing and keep them and their parents/carers informed of developments where appropriate and safe to do so
- significantly, the wishes of the young person who has allegedly been abused must be taken into account and given as much control as is reasonably possible over decisions regarding an investigation and how they will be supported.

9. WHAT SHOULD BE DONE IF A CHILD IS SUSPECTED OF BEING AT RISK OF BEING ABUSED BY THEIR PEERS, OR THAT A YOUNG PERSON MAY BE AT RISK OF ABUSING, OR IS ABUSING THEIR PEERS?

9.1 All the above factors should be discussed with the DSL immediately who will adhere to the School's Safeguarding (Child Protection) Policy and then agree a course of action.

9.2 Where a young person is suffering, or is likely to suffer, a referral to Children's Services should be made (and to the police, if appropriate) immediately.

9.3 Anyone can make a referral. If it is not made by the DSL, they should be informed as soon as possible that a referral has been made - see Safeguarding (Child Protection) Policy, Section 12.

9.4 If a child speaks to a member of the staff about child-on-child abuse, the member should listen in a non-judgemental fashion and offer understanding and sensitive responses. See Safeguarding (Child Protection) Policy, Section 13.

10. HOW WILL THE SCHOOL RESPOND TO CONCERNS ABOUT, OR ALLEGATIONS OF, CHILD-ON-CHILD ABUSE?

10.1 The DSL will discuss with the reporting member of staff and, where necessary, take immediate steps to ensure the safety of all young people affected.

10.2 Where allegations concern the sharing of images of children on-line, staff should inform the DSL immediately. The DSL should seek specialist help, which will always involve the Police, in preventing the images spreading further. The Police will be contacted in all cases when there is suspicion of nude or semi-nude images online or on devices. Staff should follow these guidelines: Never view, copy, print, share, store or save the imagery yourself, or ask a child to share or download – this is illegal. If you have already viewed the imagery by accident (e.g., if a young person has showed it to you before you could ask them not to), report this to the DSL (or equivalent) and seek support. Do not delete the imagery or ask the young person to delete it. Do not ask the child/children or young person(s) who are involved in the incident to disclose information regarding the imagery. This is the responsibility of the DSL (or equivalent). Do not share information about the incident with other members of staff, the young person(s) it involves or their, or other, parents and/or carers. Do not say or do anything to blame or shame any young people involved. Do explain to them that you need to report it and reassure them that they will receive support and help from the DSL (or equivalent).

10.3 In such cases, the DSL should use their professional judgement to assess the nature and seriousness of the alleged behaviour and determine whether the alleged behaviour should be dealt with internally or whether external support is required (from The Internet Watch Foundation, for example).

10.4 In borderline cases, the DSL may want to consult with Children's Services and the Hammersmith and Fulham LADO and other relevant agencies in accordance with the Local Safeguarding Partnership's procedures on a no-names basis, to plan the appropriate response.

10.5 Where the DSL believes, or suspects, that a young person is being subjected to abusive or violent behaviour, they should contact Children's Services and/or the police immediately, and certainly within 24 hours of the DSL being made aware of the alleged behaviour.

10.6 The DSL will discuss the allegations with the external agency and then agree a plan which may include:

- management of the case internally but with help from external agencies, where appropriate
- the school contributing to an inter-agency early help assessment to enable the young person's and those of their families, needs to be targeted
- refer the young person(s) to Children's Services for a Section 17 (Child in Need) or a Section 47 (Child Protection) statutory assessment as appropriate
- report alleged criminal behaviour to the police. (There may be some circumstances where it is not appropriate to report such behaviour, however, and all cases will be treated on an individual basis, and in conjunction with their wider context.)

11. SAFETY PLANS

11.1 The school will always carry out a safety plan with regard to:

- any young person who is considered to have behaved abusively or violently
- any child who has allegedly been abused directly or affected by the alleged abusive or violent behaviour by a peer
- any young person who is deemed at risk from another young person in the judgement of the DSL.

11.2 If a child is considered to have behaved inappropriately, but not in a violent or abusive fashion, the DSL would apply their professional judgement in the context of the young person's individual needs and context, to ascertain whether it would be appropriate to contact Children's Services and carry out a Safety Plan.

11.3 If there is any concern that a young person may be being abused by another young person, a consultation with Children's Services should be carried out.

11.4 Where other young people have witnessed alleged abuse or violent behaviour, the DSL should assess the risk to them and consider whether a safety plan would be appropriate for their needs.

12. SHARING OF INFORMATION, DATA PROTECTION AND RECORD KEEPING

12.1 When responding to allegations of abuse, or concerns about abuse, the school will:

- always consult external agencies in order to best decide how to share information about the concerns or allegations affecting students, their parents, staff and other individuals involved
- record all necessary information for all the participating agencies and respond to the concerns or allegations within a safeguarding context
- keep a record of the legal purpose for sharing the information with any third party, including external agencies, is kept in the data protection audit.
- ensure that the third party has agreed to handle the information securely and only use it for the agreed legal purpose.
- consult, and act in accordance with, its safeguarding and data protection duties, including those set out in Working Together to Safeguard Children (July 2023) and HM Government Advice on Information Sharing (July 2018).

12.2 We recognise that this will contain sensitive personal data and will be treated accordingly as per our Staff Data protection Policy and Privacy Notices.

13. DISCIPLINARY ACTION

13.1 The school may want to consider disciplinary action for any young person involved in child-on-child abuse; however, if there are police proceedings underway, or they are pending, it is crucial that the school works in partnership with the police and/or Children's Services.

13.2 Even if external agencies are not involved, the school may still need to consider sanctions in order to ensure positive behaviour in the future. This may include the young person taking responsibility for their actions and realising the gravity of them, thus demonstrating to other students that child-on-child abuse will never be tolerated.

13.3 Before deciding on any action, the school will always consider its duty to safeguard all young people in its care.

13.4 It should also take into account the underlying reasons for any abusive behaviour and the severity, and the causes of any abuse suffered by a young person.

13.5 Expulsion will only be considered as a last resort and in cases where the safety and wellbeing of other students is at risk.

13.6 In the case of an expulsion, due care must be given when sharing information with a student's new school in order to allow students in the receiving school to be protected, as well as the leaving student.

13.7 However, disciplinary interventions rarely solve child-on-child abuse and so the school's first resort should be to wider actions and to what can be learned from such cases in the school's future planning and behavioural strategies to combat abuse.

14. HOW CAN A SCHOOL CONTINUE TO SEEK TO IMPROVE ITS APPROACH TO CONTEXTUAL SAFEGUARDING?

14.1 The school should continue to work to embed its approach to contextual safeguarding by involving the whole school community in its strategies and approach.

14.2 It should regularly review its practices by asking such questions as:

- what protective factors and influences exist in school to prevent child-on-child abuse and how can we strengthen and highlight them?
- does the school's physical environment and the students' journeys to and from school contribute to this abuse and how can we mitigate this risk?
- how can the school mitigate the risk posed by the online environment and encourage a positive and safe use of digital technology?
- do wider gender norms, equality issues and/or societal issues contribute to the abuse?
- what was the relationship between the abuse and the cultural norms between staff and students and how can these be evaluated and addressed in the future?
- does the abuse indicate a lack of staff training in particular areas and how can these needs be met?
- how have similar cases been handled in the past? What effect have they had, and what has been learned from them?
- are distinct patterns and trends emerging from the way in which the school handles these cases which can then be fed into future staff training?

- are these issues occurring in other local schools and is there the need for a multi-agency response to them?
- what has the school learned from past cases which can be addressed via the PSHE/RSE curriculum, and should it be improving its provision in terms of education in matters of consent, respect, equality, avoiding victim-blaming narratives, etc?
- are there lessons to be learned from the way in which the school engages with parents concerning child-on-child abuse cases?
- have certain types of young people been highlighted by cases of abuse and should the school be working with them to build confidence and teaching them how to identify and manage child-on-child abuse?
- should the school have intervened earlier and in a different manner?
- has the pupil voice been heard with regard to developing an on-going strategy to avert child-on-child abuse?

14.3 Answering these questions feeds into the school's child-on-child on-going response which is reviewed on a case-by-case basis.

14.4 The school will work with the local agencies (where necessary) to deliver on this plan as part of its wider approach to contextual safeguarding.

15. REVIEW

15.1 This policy will be reviewed annually (and at any other time during the course of the year as necessary) to ensure that it consistently addresses the risks to which students are being, or may be, exposed. Staff and students will be involved in the review of the policy in order to inform the assessment of the impact and effectiveness of the policy during the previous year.

APPENDIX 1: DEFINITION OF SEXUAL VIOLENCE

From Part 5 Keeping Children Safe in Education (KCSIE)

It is important that schools and colleges are aware of sexual violence and the fact children can, and sometimes do, abuse other children in this way and that it can happen both inside and outside of school/college. When referring to sexual violence in this advice, we do so in the context of child-on-child sexual violence.

When referring to sexual violence we are referring to sexual offences under the Sexual Offences Act 2003 as described below:

Rape: A person (A) commits an offence of rape if: he intentionally penetrates the vagina, anus or mouth of another person (B) with his penis, B does not consent to the penetration and A does not reasonably believe that B consents.

Assault by Penetration: A person (A) commits an offence if: s/he intentionally penetrates the vagina or anus of another person (B) with a part of her/his body or anything else, the penetration is sexual, B does not consent to the penetration and A does not reasonably believe that B consents.

Sexual Assault: A person (A) commits an offence of sexual assault if: s/he intentionally touches another person (B), the touching is sexual, B does not consent to the touching and A does not reasonably believe that B consents. (NOTE - Schools and colleges should be aware that sexual assault covers a very wide range of behaviour so a single act of kissing someone without consent or touching someone's bottom/breasts/genitalia without consent, can still constitute sexual assault).

Causing someone to engage in sexual activity without consent: A person (A) commits an offence if: s/he intentionally causes another person (B) to engage in an activity, the activity is sexual, B does not consent to engaging in the activity, and A does not reasonably believe that B consents. (NOTE - this could include forcing someone to strip, touch themselves sexually, or to engage in sexual activity with a third party).

What is consent

Consent is about having the freedom and capacity to choose. Consent to sexual activity may be given to one sort of sexual activity but not another, e.g., to vaginal but not anal sex or penetration with conditions, such as wearing a condom. Consent can be withdrawn at any time during sexual activity and each time activity occurs. Someone consents to vaginal, anal or oral penetration only if s/he agrees by choice to that penetration and has the freedom and capacity to make that choice.¹³⁶

It is important school and college staff (and especially designated safeguarding leads and their deputies) understand consent. This will be especially important if a child is reporting they have been raped or sexually assaulted in any way. Further information can be found at Rape Crisis PSHE Teaching about consent from the PSHE association provides advice and lesson plans to teach consent at Key stage 3 and 4.

It is important to differentiate between consensual sexual activity between children of a similar age and that which involves any power imbalance, coercion or exploitation. Due to their additional training, the designated safeguarding lead (or deputy) should be involved and generally speaking leading the school or college response. If in any doubt, they should seek expert advice.

- a child under the age of 13 can never consent to any sexual activity
- the age of consent is 16
- sexual intercourse without consent is rape.

Further information about consent can be found here: Rape Crisis England & Wales - Sexual consent

Sexual harassment

When referring to sexual harassment we mean 'unwanted conduct of a sexual nature' that can occur online and offline and both inside and outside of school/college. When we reference sexual harassment, we do so in the context of child-on-child sexual harassment. Sexual harassment is likely to: violate a child's dignity, and/or make them feel intimidated, degraded or humiliated and/or create a hostile, offensive or sexualised environment.

Whilst not intended to be an exhaustive list, sexual harassment can include:

- sexual comments, such as: telling sexual stories, making lewd comments, making sexual remarks about clothes and appearance and calling someone sexualised names

- sexual “jokes” or taunting
- physical behaviour, such as: deliberately brushing against someone, interfering with someone’s clothes. Schools and colleges should be considering when any of this crosses a line into sexual violence – it is important to talk to and consider the experience of the victim.
- displaying pictures, photos or drawings of a sexual nature
- upskirting (this is a criminal offence¹³⁸), and
- online sexual harassment. This may be standalone, or part of a wider pattern of sexual harassment and/or sexual violence.¹³⁹ It may include:
 - o consensual and non-consensual sharing of nude and semi-nude images and/or videos.UKCIS Sharing nudes and semi-nudes: advice for education settings working with children and young people provides detailed advice for schools and colleges. ¹⁴⁰ Taking and sharing nude photographs of U18s is a criminal offence.
 - o sharing of unwanted explicit content
 - o sexualised online bullying
 - o unwanted sexual comments and messages, including, on social media
 - o sexual exploitation; coercion and threats, and
 - o coercing others into sharing images of themselves or performing acts they’re not comfortable with online.

It is important that schools and colleges consider sexual harassment in broad terms. Sexual harassment (as set out above) creates a culture that, if not challenged, can normalise inappropriate behaviours and provide an environment that may lead to sexual violence.

Harmful sexual behaviour

Children’s sexual behaviour exists on a wide continuum, ranging from normal and developmentally expected to inappropriate, problematic, abusive and violent. Problematic, abusive and violent sexual behaviour is developmentally inappropriate and may cause developmental damage. A useful umbrella term is “harmful sexual behaviour” (HSB). The term has been widely adopted in child protection and is used in this advice. HSB can occur online and/or face-to-face and can also occur simultaneously between the two. HSB should be considered in a child protection context. ⁴⁵⁶ When considering HSB, both ages and the stages of development of the children are critical factors. Sexual behaviour between children can be considered harmful if one of the children is much older, particularly if there is more than two years’ difference or if one of the children is pre-pubescent and the other is not. However, a younger child can abuse an older child, particularly if they have power over them, for example, if the older child is disabled or smaller in stature. Confidential specialist support and advice on HSB is available from the specialist sexual violence sector and sources are listed in Annex B.

It is effective safeguarding practice for the designated safeguarding lead (and their deputies) to have a good understanding of HSB. This could form part of their safeguarding training. This will aid in planning preventative education, implementing preventative measures, drafting and implementing an effective child protection policy and incorporating the approach to sexual violence and sexual harassment into the whole school or college approach to safeguarding.

HSB can, in some cases, progress on a continuum.

APPENDIX 2: SUPPORT SERVICES

Support for Victims

Local authority children's social care and the police will be important partners where a crime might have been committed. Schools and colleges may also find the following resources helpful:

- Barnardo's - UK charity caring for and supporting some of the most vulnerable children and young people through their range of services.
- Lucy Faithfull Foundation - UK-wide child protection charity dedicated to preventing child sexual abuse. They work with families affected by sexual abuse and also run the confidential Stop it Now! Helpline.
- Marie Collins Foundation - Charity that, amongst other things, works directly with children, young people, and families to enable their recovery following sexual abuse
- NSPCC - Children's charity specialising in child protection with statutory powers enabling them to take action and safeguard children at risk of abuse.
